

Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, Department of Physiology & Biophysics. A postdoctoral position is immediately available in the laboratory of Julian Stelzer, PhD. The successful candidate should have a strong background in cardiovascular physiology, biochemistry and/or molecular biology, and preferably experience in performing contractile/mechanical measurements of cardiac function at the cellular and whole organ level. Please send a cover letter, CV and a list of three references with contact information by e-mail to: julian.stelzer@case.edu.